Govt. Will Sell Bonds For Boulder Canyon

vides an appropriation of $240,000,000 for the furtherance of irrigation projects, is sure to become a law, which would furnish the funds to the Reclamation Service to build the dam and carry out the work that has been mapped out in relation to this project.

And along the lines of the building of this massive structure in the Colorado river, Kingman is the logical point whence all supplies must be moved into the Canyon. It is only 50 miles from the end of the railroad at Chloride to the damsite, and it is quite probable that the Santa Fe railroad will build a line right to the rim of the Canyon, where all materials can be delivered with little cost. At the same time a highway is to be built from Chloride into the Canyon that will be useable after the dam is complete, it being the intention to build a resort on the shores of the great lake that is to be formed by the impounded waters. This lake will be six times the size of Roosevelt and will be one of the largest artificial lakes in the world. It behooves the people of Mohave county to awaken to the necessity of this highway and knowing the people as we do, we know that they will not be asleep at the switch when the crucial hour arrives.

LIMITED

Among the witnesses called in a trial in a Southern court was an old dandy.

"Do you swear that what you tell shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?" intoned the clerk.

"Well, sah," returned the witness, shifting uneasily. "Dis lawyer gemun kin make it a powful lot easier on hisself an' relieve me of a mighty big strain if he'll leave out anything about gin and chickens. 'Ceptin' fo' dose, Ah guess Ar kin stick to de truth."

JUST FOR ONCE

"My goodness, Henry," ejaculated the wife of a man who always had decided opinions and was not averse to expressing them. "I don't know what would happen if you'd agree with me about anything."

"Well," said Henry, "I guess I'd have to admit being wrong for once."

SOJER PHILOSOPHY

"How many halves are there to a man, Pete?"

"Don't be a fool, there's only two halves to anything. Why?"

"Well, when I came out of the trenches I was half-starved, half-frozen, half-blind and half plain dead. How come?"

SPECIMENS FROM GOLD CROWN SHOWS FREE GOLD

Walter Harrison on Tuesday last brought to The Miner office samples of ore from a recent find in his Gold Crown property, in the Secret Pass section. The ore showed free gold through the rock, this rock being a quartz-calcite impregnated with flourine. Some of the gold showing was heavy and brilliantly yellow.

The Gold Crown vein shows a vein filling of 17 feet in width, the rich streaks lying on each side of the vein on the walls, although the entire vein mass gives values. From reports it is one of the most important veins in the camp and the small amount of development that has been done on it predicates important disclosures with further depth. The property is well situated for development and it is to be hoped that some people with ready means may take it over and carry development to a conclusion. It is properties of this character that should invite the mining man who has enough means to put it in shape to attract the attention of large capital and carry on the work to the productive stage. The Secret Pass district has many veins, while possibly not as important as this one, yet have features that ought to attract the investor, and it may be certain that the Harrison mines will not be long on the market.

TAKING SUBSCRIPTION FOR SEARCHLIGHT FERRY

J. K. Murphy and James Collis, of Chloride, were Kingman visitors this week, coming over here to gather subscriptions to further the building of a ferry boat to be placed in commission at Cottonwood Island, where formerly the Searchlight ferry was operated. They have close to $1,000 collected and expect soon to have sufficient to pay for a boat that will do the work. A ferry on the river west of Chloride is a necessity and it is hoped that one will soon be in commission.
